Editors Louisville Courier: The examination f the scholars of the Georgetown Female Semipary and students of Georgetown College, intions of the Baptist persuasion, c Monday, the 25th inst., as a prelude to the exons of Wednesday and Thursday. I regret that I cannot give you a correct report of the interesting examinations; for, being a "little mountain of flesh," and the heat very oppress-ing, I feared to trust myself beyond the threshrold of the recitation rooms, which were crowded to suffocation, and, from my place, voices were very indistinct. Everybody, however, ex-ses general satisfaction. At an early hour, Wednesday morning, and city was crowded with vistors, coming from all parts of the State, to witness the Fourteenth Annual Commencement of the Georgetown Female Seminary. Yours, &c., ES. KA. BE. LETTER FROM RICHMOND.

RICHMOND, Ky., June 29, '60. Editors Louisville Courier: The nomination and acceptance of John C. Breckinridge was received here with unbounded joy and gratification by the Democracy and Old-Line Whigs. His name is on every lip. It is with no small degree of pleasure that we see how nobly the Southern Democracy maintained their constitutional rights, and to know that the wire-workers of Douglas-a sension in the Democratic party than Benedict Arnold did in the American army, and who merits the just punishment of a traitor at the hands of the National Democracy—could not force them into measures detrimental to the in-terests of the South and disgraceful to the Dem-ceratic parts.

terests of the South and disgraceful to the Democratic party.

We have a flourishing Democratic Club in this place, which, I am sorry to say, contains three black sheep, who, I presume, will "bolt." However, we can lose them without any serious results. Our talented District Elector, Ed. W. Turner, Esq., is for the gallant Breckinridge, soul and body, and his powerful eloquence will make sad havoe with the Union-Constitutional-Douglas-Squatter-Sovereignty is min this district, and we will roll up a rousing old-fashioned Democratic majority for Breckinridge.

Circuit Court is in session at this place this week. There are a great many small cases on docket. Baswell Hail was sentenced to the pentitentiary for two years and nine months, for forgery.

The Nominations in Old Bath. BATH COUNTY, KY., June 26, 1860.

Edltors Louisville Courier:—We are just in receipt of the pleasing and gratifying intelligence of the National Democratic nominations, BRECKindorsement and approval of ninety-nine-hundredths of the party here, but poorly expresses the real, fixed feeling of our people. Our joy is Democratic men and measures for three years, ports our delegate, Thos. J. Young, as neutral, hardly credit it. Knowing the unreliability of that sheet, we await further proof or confirmation, particularly as this District holds (see resolutions) Douglas and his heresy in the most sovereign contempt. Be assured of one fact, let politicians clamor as they please, the people of this District would NEVER! NEVER! have supported Douglas. I have yet to see the first Douglas Democrat. The Democracy for the past few weeks were chagrined at the hocus-pocus, legerdemain trickery of Douglas and his bogus delegates, and feared he would succeed by the follest means, in securing the nomination. The incubus is now removed; and we of old Bath are preparing to join our shouts and efforts for those sterling, true Democrats, BERCKINRIGES and LANE, who have never deserted their colors in time of hardly credit it. Knowing the unreliability of have never deserted their colors in time of trial, but are as true to the old cardinal princi-ples of genuine Democracy as the needle to the pole. Keep the ball in motion! Yours, DEMOCRATIC PRIVATE.

The Ravenna, Ohio, Democrat says that a brute named Franklin Tousley, residing in that vicinity, was tarred and feathered a few days since, and thinks that he richly deserved it. He beat his wife nearly to death, killed his cattle and horses to prevent their being seized by his creditors, held his son against the stove till he was shockingly burned, because he did not work as he wished him, and has preyed upon the property of his neighbors generally.

At that time Crothers was a soldier in Gen. Scott's army, and he has always said that when the city fell into the hands of the Americans, he and a comrade, joined in a general scramble of plunder which took place, and secured as their booty a box of Mexican gold coir, and estimated by them to contain about $240,000. This they buried, intending if they survived to ewar, and after they received their discharges, to return and secure it.

In a subsequent engagement, on the march of the army toward the City of Mexico, the comrade of Crothers was killed. Crothers passed through all the battles in the valley of the City of Mexico, came back to the United Stases with the army, and received his discharge.

From that time till the period mentioned in the first paragraph, he never succeeded in getting enough to embark for the recovery of the baried treasure. But at that time he agreed with Horn, who had some money, to go with him to Mexico, and secure and divide the treasure. Horn to have one-third of the booty, in consideration of his furnishing the passage money to take them out to Mexico.

Since the departure, Mrs. Crothers, who resided with her brother-in-law, J. B. Ozier, in this village, received two or three letters, purporting to have been written by her husband, and dated New Orleans. One of them was written on the 29th of April, and announced their arrival there on their way to Vera Cruz. Another announced Crothers' return to New Orleans from Mexico, and stated that when they arrived on the spot where the treasure had been buried they found a village had grown up, and of course their expedition had proved unsuccessful. This is the last heard from Crothers.

A few evenings since Horn returned to this place, and disclaims any knowledge of Crothers' whereabouts. He says that when they arrived in Mexico, Crothers failed to identify the place where he had buried the money; that one day while in search for it, more than amile from any dwelling, he was shot by Crothers with a pistoi, the ball entering the back of the ly to Mr. DougLas, and the Squatters had strong

The gossips further say that Eugenie threatens, if the Emperor continues much longer in his ill-humor, to give him an heir to which he can lay no parental claim.

THE VOICE OF THE NATIONAL

The Maysville Express, the able and only rgan of the gallant Democracy of the Ninth District, takes strong ground for the nominees of the Democratic National Convention-for BRECKINRIDGE and LANE. Its leading article on the Convention, one of the most convincing we have seen, is necessarily omitted at present on account of its length and the crowded state of room for it. The following paragraphs indicate the feeling in that district. The defection of Mason, strange and unexpected—but not inexplicable—as it was, will not aid Douglas with those who have been taught by him to regard the the Black Republicans for whom they should Breckinridge and Lane enter the field, with seventeen States certain for them. With the prestige of this strengh, they will rally to their support the Democratic masses of the fre States, when they see as they must that Dongla has no chance to carry a single State.

The nomination of Breekinridge and Lane is received with enthusiastic delight by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and as we learn by the Democracy of Mason and the Democracy received with enthusiastic delight by the Demoe-racy of Mason, and, as we learn, by the Demoe-racy throughout Northeastern Kentucky. We doubt not that the few Democrats in Kentucky, friendly to Douglas, will cheerfully give their support to Kentucky's favorite and their own. The Harrodsburg Press has not been unfriend opes of its support; but it hoists the names of BRECKINRIDGE and LANE to its masthead, with the following remarks: he following remarks:

At the masthead of our paper will be found a candidate for the highest office in the world. This nomination he has accepted, and we would do injustice to the dictates of heart and judgment, were we not to declare, without hesitation, for Democracy's noble champion, Kentucky's favorite, the nation's pride.

We had hoped that harmony would prevail in the Baltimore Convention, and that a national platform would be unanimously adopted, and national men unanimously nominated, but in this we were disappointed. The friends of Mr. Douglas were stubbornly bent upon his nomination, and would submit to nothing less, although they knew that he was odious to a large majority of the Democrats in the Southern States. Votes, resolutions, reports of committees, and everything in their proceedings were shaped to that end and carried to such an extent of unfairness that a large majority of the Southern delegates, with a good number from the North, felt it to be their duty to withdraw, and adopt such a platform as would suit the National Benocraes and research a good number from the North, felt it to be their duty to withdraw, and adopt such a platform as would suit the National Democracy, and present to the people names of men for whom they could consistently vote. The platform adopted is substantially what was contained in the resolutions passed last winter by our Democratic State Convention. The men they have nominated are good enough for anybody and everybody to vote for, and it is with pride, pleasure, and hope that we place their names at the head of our columns.

The Richmond Democrat, throws the Breckinridge flag to the breeze, and will do gallant service in the coming fight. It says: OUR NOMINEES.

OUR NOMINEES.

We place at the head of our columns to-day the names of our nominees for President and Vice President—John C. Beckinridge, of Kentucky (our first choice), and Joe Lane, of Oregon. Our entire available space is filled with the proceedings of the two Conventions, rendering it impossible to go into particulars. We shall discuss them at length hereafter.

The nominees are worthy of the support of every lover of his country, and will sweep the country with a unanimity hardly surpassed by the canvass of 1852. Three cheers for the nominees!

And in another place it adds: The news of the nomination of Breckinridge and Lane was received with enthusiasm by the Democracy of Madison. On every side we re-ceive assurances that it is the ticket.

THE BALTIMORE CONVENTIONS AND NOMINA-TIONS.

THE BALTIMORE CONVENTIONS AND NOMINATIONS.

We publish clsewhere condensed reports of the proceedings of the Democratic Convention at Baltimore, or more properly speaking, of the two conventions. There is no patriot that will not deplore the unfortunate result; but regrets will necomplish no good, and it behooves every citizen who values the safety of the South, and the continuance of Democratic rule to go to work in earnest for Breckinridge and Lane, the men for the people and the times. Better nominations could not have been made. The chances of crushing out Black Republicanism have been somewhat lessened by the disruption of the Democratic party, but we think there is no great cause of despair. We believe the sober, second thought of the people will work a good result, and that all loyal and patriotic citizens will raily to the polls in November, and cast their votes for the ticket that floats at the head of our paper. Both name inscribed on our banner are as familiar to the country as household words. Both men are known and loved by the people, and we will be sadly mistaken if their patriotism and devotion to country and principle are not recognized and rewarded.

OH, SHAME, WHERE IS THY BLUSH?
Our readers will remember that when the bogus Convention was charged with being a packed Douglas concern, some of its members indigmantly denied the fact, and avowed that they were not in favor of Douglas, but desired harmony and union at Baltimore. Our telegraphic dispatches give the lie to these assertions. After the rejection of the regularly appointed Democratic delegates from the South, and after the entire South, seceders, and anti-seceders, with most of the delegates from the Northern Democratic States, had withdrawn from the free Democratic States, had withdrawn from the free soil concern, Parsons, of Alabama, east the whole out of the State for Douglas. Parsons is an old Federalist, who never cast a Democratic vote, and has always been a bitter enemy of Democraty and of Southern rights. If there were any sense of shame in the hearts of the Douglas men that were admitted from Alabama, their feelings of humilation must have been bitter indeed, when the whole, even the Union loving men from Kentucky and Tennessee, left them in scorn and formed a Constitutional Convenbeen the rebuke, when the true men of the North the Administration Democrats, left the Souther renegades and their freesoil allies, and joined the South. Reproaches are needless; we leave

Constitution and the Union. With RELECKINRIDGE and LANE we will carry this banner whereever a fee may be found to oppose it, and, if defeated in the contest, will again raise it to the breeze, and rally around it the true and brave

men of the National Democratic party.

The Douglas Convention was made up of delegates mostly from States which have got to be won from the Opposition before the Democracy can count on a single electoral vote; while it was shorn of the strength mostly of the States that the Black Republicans concede would cast one hundred and twenty-seven Democratic electoral votes. Never, apparently, was slighting ground planner! Delegates from these States were willing to unice on almost any man North or South but Senator Douglas; it was but necessary to select the candidate who promised to be the most acceptable to Pennsylvania or New York; and victory for the Democratic cause was a result almost certain. But patriotic consideration was disregarded; and in the above way one portion of the divided Democratic party has presented Senator Douglas as a candidate for the Presidency.

A nomination, thus made, will fail to appeal, with the requisite moral force, to the nation, it has not the support of the old Democratic States; and thus lacking in its mode the essential quality of nationality, it is open to the most objectionable charge which can be made against a political party. It must, in the present aspect of affairs, have its chief aliment from a hostile sentiment against the South; indeed, the language that often fell from the lips of those who were resolved that Mr. Douglas should, at all events, be the nominee—their charge that the South desired a slave code—was the same in tone as falls continually from the lips of the Republicans. The needle is not surer to point towards the pole, than are those who use this line of argument, to ultimately drift into the pit of Abolitionism.

In all our party excitements there has been no such dragooning as was seen in fixing up a bogus list to-make up 202 delegates; and we believe a nomination thus made, in Mr. Hallett's words, is ruin to the man and ruin to the party.

made, in Mr. Hallett's words, is ruin to the man and ruin to the party.

Under such circumstances, when the Convention worked itself into an irregular body, and when the only choice is between partial representations of the glorious national party, we prefer the nominces of delegates who would not pass the Caudine Forks, but chose principle rather than dishonor. While we have nothing to say in condemnation of Senators Doughas and Fitzpatrick, as individual members of the Democratic party, we express admiration of Democratic party, we express admiration of Senators Breckinridge and Lane. They are names that are fit to summon the Democratic rank and file throughout the country, like the

The moral heroism of their lives is only equaled by their valor upon the battle-field, while their ability as statesmen is well sustained by their experience in the past. (From the Philadelphia Argus.) We are decided in our opinion that the convention which placed the Hon. Stephen Arnold Douglas in nomination for the Presidency did not represent the wishes, feelings, or interests of its constituents.

The good and true men of the National Democracy representing twenty-two States, in concepts.

The good and true men of the National Democracy, representing twenty-two States, in convention assembled in the Maryland Institute at Baltimore, with most singular unanimity, have placed in nomination for President, John C. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, and for Vice President, Gen. Joseph Laue, of Oregon.

The announcement of the names of these two distinguished men as the standard-bearers of the true National Democratic party, will be hailed with delight by every national, conservative Democrat in the Union.

It is therefore not only in the discharge of a duty which we owe to the Democracy, but because it affords us unqualified pleasure, that we place their names at the head of our paper.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES.

We take up our pen to-day with more reluctance than we have ever felt, to give expression to the opinions which the action of the National Convention here has forced upon us. All who read this journal will bear witness to our continued appeals for conciliation and concession, in order to preserve union and harmony in the Convention. All will bear witness to our efforts to maintain the union of the party, and our readiness to sacrifice all preferences or prejudices for that purpose. Profoundly do we regret that this was not the feeling among all the members of that body—many of them evidently came to the Convention, not for the purpose of harmonizing conflicting views, but for the sole purpose of accomplishing the nomination of a parpose of accomplishing the nomination of a par ticular individual. To carry out this purpose ticular individual. To carry out this purpose, these parties resorted to practices unknown to Democratic usage, and unsanctioned by every principal of justice or fairness. A rule was adopted at Charleston, under the unequal and unjust operation of which, a minority, was constituted a majority, and enabled to control the action of the Convention. The adoption of this rule split the Convention at Charleston, and caused the adjournment to Baltimore.

Upon reassembling in this city, a committee of those who remained in the Convention at Charleston was appointed to reëxamine the credentials of memhers. A majority of that committee made a most extraordinary report, by which, in the first place, Mr. Hallett, a delegate from Massachusetts, duly and properly elected, in accordance with the usages of the Democratic party, was excluded. BRECKINGIDGE AND LANE.

By the telegraphic dispatches received to-day, it is definitely ascertained that Breckinridge and Lane have accepted the nomination tendered them by the National Democratic Convention. The demonstrations made by the Democracy at Washington and elsewhere are regarded as an indorsement of the action of the Baltimore Convention in presenting such distinguished and able representatives of the great National Democratic party, and in announcing the great constitutional doctrine of the equality of the States in the common Territories, Complete and perfect equality in all things, touching the several States of this Union, is the basis of the Government, and the doctrine of the National Domocratic party, whose representatives are John C. Though the temper of the Douglasites, as manifested at Baltimore last week, betokened their disposition to work as much mischief to the Democratic party as possible, fortunately their power to that end is by no means commensurate with the spirit of revenge actuating them. Thus, they cannot subtract votes from Breckinridge and Lane in any State otherwise sure for the Democratic Abolitionism.

Let who will travel in that road, it is not the path that we can travel in. This spirit of abolitionism we believe to be the evil to our country; to bode nothing but evil; and unless checked in some way that seems not now laid out, it must result in the gravest of all political evils. But, setting aside consequences, this forced nomination is contrary to that spirit of amily and fraternity, among equals, that has prevailed in the great

They may, possibly, give Maryland to Bell end Everett, and may compeit the Democracy to make a vigorous canvass in Louisiana, owing to the fraction of votes they might otherwise subtract from the Democratic ticket there. There their power for mischief in otherwise probably Democratic States will surely end.

So far as the middle and debateable North-So far as the middle and debateable North-western States are concerned, the Democratic ticket will doubtless run better there than any other that could have been nominated; the names of both Breckinridge and Lane being towers of strength in all of them—indiana, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey. Indeed, they were clearly se-lected to the end of strengthening the Demo-cratic party's cause in those particular States.— So far as Iliunois is concerned, it is already clear that Lincoln will bent Douglas there from six to ten thousand votes—leaving him without the slimmest conceivable chance of obtaining a sin-gle electoral vote in the Presidential election.

From the Wilmington (N. C.) Journal, I Breckinridge and Lane form a ticket for the support of which all truly national men can safely rally for the preservation of the Union and the integrity of the Constitution.

This is no factious movement—no breaking up of the Demogratic party. It is a conservative. This is no factious movement—no breaking up of the Democratic party. It is a conservative movement for preserving the purity of the party, and placing it upon that high ground will entite it to the continued confidence and support of the whole country. It is to be remarked that but one delegate out of the whole North Carolina delegation voted in the Convention that nominated Mr. Douglas, while eight and a half electoral votes out of ten were case in the Convention that nominated Mr. Bergekinvides leavent of the processing the convention that nominated Mr. Bergekinvides leavent of the processing the convention that nominated Mr. Bergekinvides leavent of the processing the convention that nominated Mr. Bergekinvides leavent of the processing the process of the processing the process of the pr vention that nominated Mr. Breckinridge, leaving no doubt of the decision of the State in reference to the Convention or the candidates. Joseph Lane, of Oregon, for Vice President, we consider it the duty of every Democratic journal in the Republic to place the names of Breckinridge and Lane at the head of their columns, and use all honorable means to secure their election. The nominees are life-long Democrats—men of experience and popularity. In placing the Democratic ship in their hands, we have secured a pair of pilots who will enable the glorious old vessel to ride out the sectional storms which now beact her on all sides.

More Drunken Men.—T. Sheeham, E. Sheeham, S. Sheeham, and Jerry Cochrane, were all up for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. It appears that yesterday they went to the house of Mr. Rowland, and made threats against him and his wife. The Sheehams are brothers-in-law to Rowland, and there has been a family difficulty between them ever since whisky was invented. S. Sheeham and T. Sheeham were discharged. Jerry Cochrane and T. Sheeham, were each held to bail in one hundred dollars for six months.

Another Drunk.—J. D. Robbins were up on the charge of being too drunk to navigate. His family were badly scalded by the explosion of the Lewis, and his little child lest by the same calamity, and he had been drinking to drown his sorrow. Upon a promise to abstana from liquor hereafter, he was discharged.

23 Lewis Dennis was up for befouling the Courthouse. He is a young man, and a stranger in the city. He was fined two dollars.

DISTRICTIVE FIRE.—Between ten and eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon the plow factory of Messrs. Hamilton & Sharp, in the Southern suburbs of the city caught fire and burned down. The material about the building was very combustible, and the flames spread with such rapidity that but little was saved. The firemen hastened to the seene, but owing to the difficulty of procuring water, were unable to check the flames. The loss will amount to $15,000 or $2.0,000. The fire was the result of accident.—Nashville Union and American.

John Atchison testified that on last Tuesday evening, about 5 o'clock, he was in biraningham's nouse, when the latter commenced raising a fuss with the inmates when he got up and left; returned again in about one hour, when Birmingham came towards him and said, "I will cut you open, you d—n son of a b—h," and immediately stabbed him in the abdomen.

Lawrence Sullivan testified that Atchison and Birmingham were quarreing, and that he went to where they were standing, when Birmingham struck Atchison in the face. After this, Atchison walked off and laid down, when Birmingham went up to him and kicked him in the face, and endeavored to pull him into the house, and oming contest give to them our influence and

Of Kentucky.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT, GENERAL JOE LANE.

Of Oregon.

The Platforms. The friends of Douglas, the "soft" wing the Democracy, were the loudest of brawlers for principle—the most relentless of advocate for the Cincinnati platform without addition alteration, or amendment. This was their ultimatum-this they would give and accept, and nothing more or less would receive their sanc tion or be inscribed upon their banners. We had fought and won a great conflict on that declaration of principles, they said, and we must do it again. It was that or nothing, as it was also DOUGLAS or nothing. It was in vain we plead for a renunciation in direct terms of the dogma of Squatter Sovereignty, which they said was in the Cincinnati platform: we appealed to the justice and honor of men who neither heard nor regarded our appeals, for a recognition of our rights in the common Territories of the Union. They were as inexorable as fate. The Cincinnat platform, pure and simple, was their battle cry; and for that they were willing to dissever th party, to brave defeat, to secure the triumph of Black Republicanism, to dissolve the Union

This was the position of the Douglasites prior to the assembling of the Convention at Charleston. If their honesty was granted, their adherence to principle, their willingness to make sac rifices for the right, their frankness and courage commanded respect and elicited sympathy. That many who differed from them had faith in their sincerity is true.

They went to Charleston in the persons of their representatives to contend for the Cincin-

The first act they did, after the question wa brought before them, demonstrated their hypocrist. They deliberately rejected the Cincinnati platform. They voted down Mr. BUTLER's repor from the Committee on Resolutions-voted down on a call by States-rejected it in the Conention as they had rejected it in Committee; and Mr. Butler's report was the Cincinnati plat form without the dotting of an i or the cross ing of a t. They did this, stultifying ther selves, and contradicting their professions, with the avowed purpose of amending, improving, or explaining the resolutions which they had so noisily maintained were to be taken without Such was the action of the Squatters a Charleston. They would not take the Cincinnati platform as it stood; they insisted on amending it. They would not let others change or alter or add to it. They adopted, by a majority vote, what they said was the party creed for the coming canvass. Mr. Howard, o Tennessee, thought, as something had been added to the Cincinnati platform, it might bear another merely explanatory resolution.— The delegates from Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee thought as Mr. Howard did. But the Squatters would listen to nothing. They said the platform was made up-that nothing could be added to it or taken from it. Before the Convention reassembled at Baltimore, it was only necessary to intimate that anything would be done in the way of resolutions-to claim that the subject was open-to set the Douglas elements in commotion. None but inhallowed hands would dare touch the declaration of principles already made.

So they said and acted. And again was their insincerity exposed by their own deeds-demon-

At Baltimore, after they had succeeded in driving out the representatives from the Demo-cratic States, they added to the work they had already pronounced perfect, to the platform wrought out by their own hands, a resolution which we beg all our readers to examine.

They first, prior to the meeting of the Conno Democrat who would not take the Cincinnati platform just as it was adopted in 1856: at BRECKINKINGS and LANE, the candidates of the Comment is unnecessary. The following are the resolutions as finally adopted by the Rump Convention:

Resolved, That we, the Democracy of the Union, in Convention assembled, do hereby declare our affirmation of the resolution unanimously adopted and declared as a platform of principles by the Democratic Convention at Cincinnati, in the year 1856, believing that Democratic principles are unchangeable in their nature when applied to the same subject-matters.

Resolved, finat it is the duty of the United States to afford ample and complete protection to all the citizens, whether at home or abroad, and whether native or foreign born.

Federal Constitution on the power of the Territorial Legislature over the subject of the domestic relations, as the same has been or shall hereafter be finally determined by the Supreme

Below we give the resolutions of the Demo eratic National Convention, on which BRECKIN-RIDGE and LANE are making the canvass. They will not be misunderstood. They cannot be misconstrued:

Resolved, That the platform adopted by the Democratic party at Cincinnati is affirmed, with the following explanatory resolutions:

First—That the gravity of the provisional and temporary, and during its existence all citizens of the United States have an equal right to settle with their property in the Territory, without these rights, either of person or property, being destroyed or injured by Congressional or Territorial legislation.

Second—That it is the duty of the Federal Government, in all its departments, to protect, when necessary, the rights of persons and property in the Territories, and wherever else its constitutional authority extends.

Third—That when the settlers in a Territory, having an adequate population, form a State Constitution, the right of government commences, and being consummated by admission into the Union, they stand on an equal footing with the people of other States; and a State thus organized ought to be admitted into the Federal Union, whether the Constitution prohibits or recognizes the institution of slavery.

A WORD TO THE WISE.—The people are aware that D. O'Hare, No. 427 Main street, is the oldest, largest, and most experienced manufacturer of trunks and similar articles in the city. They should avail themselves of the rare opportunities afforded by Mr. O'Hare. To the country and city merchants he offers peculiar advantages in his wholesale department, while in the retail line he cannot be equalled. Whoever wants to travel, whether with a small car-pet bag or a mammoth trunk, need go no further than the great Western factory of Mr. O'Hare. His manufactory is a credit to Louisville, and should meet with extensive patronage. As a matter of home pride, and to subserve economy, purchasers will consult their best interest in purchasing of Mr. D. O'Hare. Remember, that the United States Prize Medal was awarded to D. O'Hare for the best trunks made.

DR. J. WILSON,

The farm Courier.

THE FARM: THE ORCHARD: THE STOCK RANGE

LOUISVILLE JUNE 30, 1860

The Useful and the Beautiful "The Useful and the Beautiful in Gardening was the theme of a Horticultural sermon, written and published by Rev. A. D. Gridley, of Clinton, New York, a couple of seasons ago. A year since we took it up for the purpose of having it republished, in order that the Agricultura and Horticultural parishioners of the Farn Courier might be interested unto edification by the beautiful truths which it so happily enun ciates. It then occurred to us that perhaps our parish was not yet "educated up" to the point at which such a piece of æsthetical teaching would be properly relished. So we laid it aside for another season: and even now we present it with some misgivings, for, although we have aimed on all proper occasions to impress similar lessons upon our patient hearers, many things have prevented us from doing so much as we wished to do, and the hard crust of prejudice and cupidity to be broken through, we have found even more difficult to penetrate than we had supposed we should. Here it is, neverthe less; and as a final word of introduction, before epping aside for our New York brother, we enjoin all our friends, as a social and religiou

"Scatter the germs of the beautiful!
By the way-side let them fall,
That the rose may spring by the cottage gate,
And the vine on the garden wall!
Cover the rough and the rude of earth
With a vail of leaves and flowers,
And mark with the opening bud and cup
The march of summer hours."

And now for Dr. Gridley: THE USEFUL AND THE BRAUTIFUL.

It is not always easy rightly to adjust the claims of use and beauty. Tastes differ, and circumstances alter cases. Most men, however, are utilitarian in their views and feelings. Must we not eat and drink and sleep, they inquire, and can anything be better than stocks and mortgages, and instruments that are sure to pay? This is the governing principle. This speeds the plow, drives railway trains, makes steamboat paddles revolve, the looms of factories rattle, and is the grand motor of that mighty and universal macnine which men call "business." It is to gain physical enjoyment and material prosperity. THE USEFUL AND THE BEAUTIFUL.

is to gain physical enjoyment and material prosperity.

The same principle steals into our gardens.
We plant and prune and water and weed, chiefly with an eye on the market. Beets and onions and strawberries and radishes fetch so much solid cash; and peas, peaches, pumpkins, pears, cabbages, grapes, and squashes command so much. They are all likewise good to cat. Out with the useless flowers! They cumber the ground; and the time wasted in cultivating and admiring them might be spent in raising fruits and vegetables. Throw them over the fence!
These amateurs, who give so much of their land and of their thoughts to fancy gardening, are visionary characters, who don't know what is really worth having, and are seen to come to want in the end.

Has not the reader heard words like those?

ant in the end.

Has not the reader heard words like these? Has not the reader heard words like these? The grounds of my friend are about equally divided between the useful and the ornamental. His lawn contains fine specimens of the Norway Spruce, Hemlock, European Linden, Larch, Dutch Elm, and other trees on which the eye of cultivated taste always loves to repose; and yet, we have heard many men wonder why that lawn was not planted with cherry trees, pear trees, plum trees, and other useful things. One man, in walking through it, pansed by a group of Altheas, Euronymus, and Flowering Hawthorns, and asked what sort of fruit these bushes bore; and learning that they were ornamental shrubs, his countenance fell, and he could not repress his amazement and disgust. When he was taken to the rear of the premises and shown the fruit trees and vegetables, he began to breathe more freely. His eyes brightened over the rows of carrots and early potatoes, and he could not help saying, as he rubbed his hands together, "Now this looks like living; here is something to keep one from starving."

So much for a specimen. Now we pity, more than we despise, this material spirit.

one from starving."

So much for a specimen. Now we pity, more than we despise, this material spirit. It robs its possessors of high enjoyment. They ought to know that money-making and physical gratification are not the chief end of man. Is a tree worth nothing save for bearing fruit or making lumber? A stream, except for turning a wheel? A cloud, save as it waters one's potato patch? A flower, save as it belongs to a pumpkin vine? If the æsthetic part of our nature is not to be gratified, why has God endowed us with it, and why has He adapted the world we live in to this part of our constitution? Alas for the man who cannot see the beautiful side of nature, or who disparages those who strive to do so! disparages those who strive to do so!

"A river or a sea Is to him a dish of tea, And a kingdom, bread and butter." Are ver or a sea

Is to him a dish of tea,
And a kingdom, bread and butter."

Apply this thought to the pursuits of horticulture. We would not speak lightly of gardening as carried on for pecuniary profit. If it were possible, we would deter no one from devoting a suitable portion of his ground to fruits and vegetables. Our bodies must be fed, as well as our tastes gratified. And, moreover, one finds greater enjoyment in the beautiful itself, when the useful also is allowed a proper share of his attention. A well arranged garden will always show a due regard to cach. What that due estimate is, it may not be easy to determine with great exactness. It will vary with each person's means and the size of his premises. Nor can we always draw a distinct line between the useful and the ornamental. In fruit culture, for instance, there is an incidental appeal to the sense of beauty, as well as a direct one to that of pecuniary profit; strawberries, cherries, apples, pears, grapes—do not these please the eye, as well as tickle the palate, and fill the pocket? Few persons, it may be, cultivate fruit for its beauty; yet we would by no means see it excluded from our grounds, nor would we fail to give the homely kitchen garden its due appreciation. Having now guarded our orthodoxy, let us say a few heretical words. Fruit trees are well enough, and should be planted; but they are, after all, the least important part of an amateur's plantation. How long are many of them in coming into bearing, and for how small a portion of the year, at best, do they afford gratification! To what innumerable ills are they subject! Slugs, aphides, borers, worms, curcullos, enterpillars, middew, sap-blight, black-knot, cracking of the fruit, bursting of the bark, etc., etc.—what an array of obstacles, what a multitude of disappointments! And if it so happens, that after one has spent many years in planting and nursing, his patient labor is about being rewarded by a specimen of new and choice fruit, how often do thieves match the dainty morsel fr a specimen of new and choice fruit, how often do thieves snatch the dainty morsel from his very lips.

But suppose (and the supposition is well warranted) that when we planted our fruit garden, and arranged our vegetable quarters in the best manner, we at the same time laid off a suitable portion of ground for ornamental purposes. It was graded, roads and walks were laid out through it; it was sown with a mixture of veritable grains, and in all respects was molded into a complete lawn. A variety of ornamental trees were set out upon it, according to the canons of correct taste. Being well cared for, they grew luxuriantly from year to year, and are now large, symmetrical trees. The velvet grass has allorded us annually a summer-long feast of pleasure. The elm has assumed that majestic, yet graceful post, which makes it the "Queen Elizabeth" among trees. The magnolias and tulip trees, with their broad, glossy leaves, have diffused the air of milder climates through our northern garden. Linden, oak, chestnut, maple, beech, birch, and ash, both natives and foreigners, have grown side by side, and mingled their spray in loving companionship. Here, too, we planted evergreens of various forms and shades of color; and not only the robust denizens of our American hills, but many from across the water. Scotland and Austria sent us pines, and so did Switzer land and the Isle of Corsica, and Siberia, and the Bhotan mountains. Norway contributed the noblest of all the spruces; the Altai mountains a fir, Siberia and China sent arbor vitzes, Sweden a juniper, and England a yew. Other nations sent us representatives, which have not yet become so well domesticated as to call for a mention of their names.

And here we might adduce the case of our fixed Parfessor.

sent us representatives, which have not yet become so well domesticated as to call for a mention of their names.

And here we might adduce the case of our friend, Professor —, who is infatuated with the same disregard of pecuniary profit in his gardening. On one side of his lawn the ground falls off into a ravine, which winds down into a wild gulf or chasm, where a dashing stream and scattered rocks and overhanging boughs diffuse the charm of picturesque beauty. The sunny slopes of this ravine might have grown excellent grapes, pears, berries, currants, and the like, but he has devoted the ground to less profitable purposes. He has laid out graveled walks, winding through its center, and along its sides. Here and there he has made patches for flowers. All the curious trees, shrubs, vines and plants that he could get, far and near, are gathered into this spot. He has traversed the surrounding forests and swamps, and wooed away their choicest treasures to set them here. He has taken advantage of a little spring which trickles out from the side of this ravine, and has led its waters along by the roots of certain shrubs and plants which love such conditions. Now this ravine does not yield him one mouthful to eat or to sell, yet he and his family think it is the best part of their garden, and his visitors (whose eyes are not in their stomachs or their pockets) think so too.

shaded avenues, other men and other times surround us. The patriarch meets us under the "dark, gnarled, centennial tree" he so much loved. Sages discourse philosophy under the revolving shade of our plane-trees. Orators and poets sweep past us in their robes, meditating themes of eloquence and song. The great and good, the pure and beautiful, of every age and clime, are here, and repeat before us the words and actions of their daily lives. We hear "the voice of the Lord walking in the garden," reminding us of his continual presence and fatherly care. We find a new charm added to donestic and social life, a charm which grows stronger with every passing year, and makes home the full realization of its sacred name.

But we need not pursue this thought further. There is little danger that ornamental gardening for profit. Man loves to make money and to cat too well for one to indulge fears on that score. And we sincerely hope that the practical will maintain its due share of the garden. But we also hope that ornamental planters will never apologize for their tastes, that the pleasure-grounds of our country will become larger instead of smaller, and that those men who now see no value in anything which does not bear fruit, may soon come to a better mind.

Sold by all Druggists everywhere. SPRING AND SUMMER MEDICINE.

The fibres of the body are often soft and relaxed after the bracing cold of Winter is withdrawn; and if sickness attacks us, it is in the form of fainting, apoplexy, fevers, inflammation, and acute rheumatisms. Because at this season all the humors are apt to corrupt from any sudden check of the perspiration, from costiveness or the stoppage of any usual evacuation, than at any other period of the year. Brandstern's Pills set all to rights, cleanse the blood from those crudities which the cold and want of exercise of Winter have locked up in the bowels and solids of the body, and which, if not timely expelled, produce cancer, tumor, costiveness, consumption, and SPRING AND SUMMER MEDICINE. produce cancer, tumor, costiveness, consumption, and an early death. When, therefore, you feel chilliness, lassitude, dizziess, pains of the head, lose no time, but at once swallow ness, pains of the head, lose no time, but at once swallow four, six, or eight of BRANDRETH'S VEGETABLE UNIVERSAL PILLS. Soon cheerfulness will displace anxiety, and health disease. And remember, these Pills are entirely vegetable, and harmiess for the weakest or the strongesi, but able to search out and remove all impurities, leaving the blood as pure as it was in our first parents.

These celebrated Pills are sold at 25 cents per bex, with full directions, at 294 Canal street, New York. Dr. Bran-reth's office, and by J. B. WILDER & CO., Main street, and RAYMOND & TYLER, Fourth street, Louisville, Ky., and by all respectable dealers in medicines.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR Is without doubt a peerless remedy. It has this endorse ment, the test of trial and experience, for it has been our household medicine for many years. Why so? Because household medicine for many years. May see Because, while healing the skin, its penetrative powers are such that it reaches the radix or core of disease, below the surface, even as sail will reach the marrow and hone of the meat. For all Cutansous Diseases, as well as the SCALDING from steam or water, it has no equal; it renders the coating of the skin free from disfigurement—its action is the court and invariable. is thorough and invariable.

A MOUNTAIN TRIP TO THE FAR WEST .- The following is the log of the Twilight, Capt. Shaw, that reached St. Louis Thursday, from the farthest limits of the wild Missouri:

The Twilight brings the latest news from the Upper Missouri. She leit here for Ft. Randall on the 26th ultimo. After a long and tedious trip, in which she contended against low water, sand bars, tornadoes, and atout. every conceivable obstacle, she reached the Fort on the 21st of June Capt. Shaw reports the command at the Fort all well, and the country generally in the upper river region to be in a very prosperious condition. The Indians are quiet, the crops are looking flucly, and everything seems to bid flar for the coming season. The Yankton Indian Agency, about twenty-live inflies below the Fort, in particular, its reported by Capt. Shaw to be in a fine state of properly, reflecting, much credit upon all concerned. The indians have about three hundred acres here, a'll in a high state of cultivation. The Twilight remained at rord Randall only at the rate of an inch per hour, and was found to be swelling all the way down. Nothing was heard of the progress of the mountain fleet.

WPECK SUNK IN THE HARBOR.-Last evening the job boat Charley Miller had in tow the wreck of the old bowlder boat that and been half burnt and sunk in the mouth, or first basin of the canal, and was ring to tow it out of the harbor, when it went down in deep water just in front of Fourth street. One end of the boat was above water, and the job boat had lines made fast to it, endeavoring to tow it up above the wharf, when it very suddenly went down, and the tow lines had to be cut to free the towboat. The old hulk lies in the channel u der water, some 200 feet or more from the shore, and may prove a serious obstruction to the channel. Disasters for Six Months.—In the Courier to-morrow will appear a detailed list of the steam boat and flatboat disasters for the first six months of the present year. It is a formidable list.

THE BEN LEWIS DISASTER. - By special dispatch from our Cairo correspondent yesterday, we learn that already have twelve dead bodies been recovered and near Hickman, but not one of the who mber has been identified. The wounded at Cairc David Penny the pilot at the wheel of the Ben

Lewis at the time of the explosion, arrived here yes terday. He made a miraculous escape, and was so verely bruised about the body and lace. He confirms our previous report that the explosion took place while the casineer had the valve risen to blow out the must tarough the receiver, and it was thought the water was let out at the same time. The box had landed at all the whar-boats at Cairo, and had cooled, and was on her way out of the Onio, head down stream, when Mr. Penny, the pilot, rang the bell to move her slow, and then to stop her, as she was meeting a tow-toat. The pilot was on the lar-board side of the wheel, and had not yet made the turn to go up the Mississippi, when the explosion occurred. He had no recollection of anything until he found himself over the boilers amid the wreck, and splinters of the cabin and Texas. Seeing the boat in flames he launched a state-room door into the river, and clinging to it trusted himself to the mercy of the waves, and, with others was in the river an hour be fore he was rescued by the Sunny Side. The number of lives lost cannot be determined, but it is thought it is less than reported, as the boat had but few pas

Our Cairo letter furnishes the names of the dead, wounded, and missing, and we subjoin the proceed ings of the meeting of the Arab Fire Company of Cairo, which, it will be seen, is very severe upon the inhuman conduct of Capt. Miller of the Bay City: CAIRO, Ill., June 26, 1860.

CAIRO, Ill., June 26, 1860.

At a meeting of the Independent Arab Fire Company, held at their engine house this evening, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with the sufferers of the late ill-fated steamer Ben Lewis, destroyed by exploding her boilers, and afterwards burning up, on the morning of the 25th of June, 1860.

Resolved, That at the same time while we sympathize with the safierers, we must condemn in the strongest terms the conduct of Capt, Milier, of the steamer Bay City, for his inhuman conduct in not repairing to the scene of disaster when pressed to do so by us .nd others, when it was in his power to have prevented the burning of the said Ben Lewis and the loss of many lives.

burning of the said Ben Lewis and the loss of many lives.

Besolved, That for his inhuman conduct Capt. Miller deserves the reproach and scorn of the whole human family, and deserves to be branded with the brand of Cain, so that he may be known wherever he may go, and the whole human race shun and avoid the viper that wears the garb of man.

Besolved, That the thanks of this company be tendered to the officers of the steamers Lake Erie, Storm, and Sunny Side, for their promptness in raising steam, and rendering all the aid in their power to save the lives of the unfortunate sufficers.

Besolved, That we faily appreciate, as a company and citizens, the exemplary conduct and untiring exertions of the Bon. S. Statts Taylor, Capt. Wash Graham, and others, during the trying time of Monday morning, in seeing that everything was done for the comfort and welfare of the sufferers.

H. WINTER, Sceretary, Longeradort Arability Company.

H. WINTER, Secretary, Independent Arab Fire Company. The Keystone, a tow-boat, passed Evans ville Thursday, coming this way.

Thanks to the Fanny Bullitt, for a manifest forwarded from Cairo. It will be seen by our Cairo letter, that the Judge Torrence is coming with a heavy cargo of sugar and molasses for this port. John T. Smith is the name of the noble pilot of the Bay City, who took the life-boat, and went to the rescue of the drowning people from the wreck of the Ben Lewis.

Commercial.

OFFICE LOUISVILLE COURIER, FRIDAY EVENING, June 29, 1860. The domand for Money to-day was about the same yesterday, and it was readily met by our Banker-il persons having first class paper to ofter found no difficulty in negotiating loans, and a large number of outsiders were accommodated by our Brokers. The upply of currency is in excess of the demand, and ket presents a very easy appearance. In th Exchange market the demand for Eastern was moderate and it was readily met at %P$. There was nothing doing in New Orleans.

In regard to money matters at Chicago, we take the following from the Press and Tribune of yesterwe take the following from the Times of yesterday: Holders of Flour to day advanced about 25¢ in their views, but, as buyers did not meet them, the market closed without any transactions on 'Change. Wheat was in good demand at the opening, having advanced to $1 10@$1 12½ for No. 2. Spring, but afterwards declined, closing quiet at $108. The sales included about 20.000 bushels at $1 11 for No. 1; $1 08@$1 10½ for No. 2. and $3¢ for rejected, together with a small lot of Red Winter at $1 25 in store. The Corn market opened at $9½¢ for No. 1, declining on 'Change and closing quiet at 48½¢, with but a limited number of transactions. About 70,000 bushels changed hands at 48½%$4½ for No. 1; 47@$47½$¢ for No. 2, 44¢ for rejected, and 50¢ for yellow, canal and common river. Oats were in fair demand at a decline of 1¢, with sales of a few lots of No. 1 at 27¢ in store. we take the following from the Times of yesterday.

In the Flour market we have a continued dullness to report. Holders are anxious to realize, while buyers vince a disposition to hold off in hopes of a decline for which there are strong hopes at present. The transactions to-day were in small lots for the home rade, at $5 75 for superfine, and $6 25@$6 50 for ex tra family brands, though in large lots it could have been purchased at a decline of 25¢ on these quota-tions. There was nothing doing in Wheat. Dealers and millers still refuse to offer any price for it, wish ng to wait until the views of farmers are known. A ay, at $1 15 P bushel. We quote the market for old uil, at $1 20@$1 30 for choice Red and White.

There was nothing doing in Corn to-day, and we continue to quote at 64¢ for white shelled, sacks inluded, and 50@55¢ for ear.

There was more inquiry for Sugar to-day than for a ew days past, but the transactions were small, at (@8%). The market was very firm, but prices re ain unchanged. Holders do not seem disposed to and it is thought that at the present time it is not as large as it was on the 1st of September, last year.— There was but a small demand for Molasses at 43 or barrels, and 46¢ for half barrels. The Coffee market was firm, with small sales at 14%¢. The Provision market exceedingly firm, with a good demand for the various articles, to fill orders. Holders have advanced Shoulders to 9¢ and Clear been continually advancing, owing to the light stock and the good demand. A lot of 155 casks Shoulder was taken by a dealer at 856, and some small lot were sold on order at 8347, but in the evening nor could be purchased at less than 9¢. Rib Sides we held at 11¢; Clear Rib Sides at 11½¢, and Clear 24/6: the market closing very firm and buoyant these quotations. We were shown, this evening private telegraphic dispatch from Cincinnati, date to-day, which quoted that market very firm at 9‡ for to hold their stock out of the market. The general impression here is, that Bacon will advance sail further. For Mess Pork there was no inquiry, bu were firm at $18 50. We heard of small tra irm at 12) for tierces and 12% (313) for kegs.

In regard to Provisions at Cincinnati, we take the

In regard to the crops, we have nothing further to note. The refleshing rains of yesterday were of great benefit to the crops, as they were much needed in this region of country. The corn was very dry and this rain was of great service to it. With favor able weather, the crop of corn in this section prom ises to be larger than for several seasons past. The amount of ground planted in corn is much larger, as the wheat, in several portions of the State had been ploughed up, and the ground planted in corn. The wheat crop, though small, will be much larger than was at first expected. In regard to the crops in Illiois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, we take the ollowing extract from the Chicago Times of yester-

From all parts of this State, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota, we continue to receive me Wisconsin and Minnesota, we continue to receive most favorable ac-counts of the crops, especially corn, wheat, outs and barley. In the central part of Illinois the corn is high enough to cover the hortes while plowing, and the Spring wheat in many places is already headed out. Winter wheat is being harvested, and from the accounts received there is no doubt whatever about the yield being light, although the quality is good are free having their crops all secured in the ground, have made free deliveries of grain, especially corn, the receipts of which at this point, during the past week, amount to 704,060 bushels—the heaviest Washington, June 29.—Among the acts passed by the late session of Congress was one to carry into effect certain stipulations in the treaty between the United States and China, Japan, Siam, Turkey, Persia, Tripoli, Tunis, Morocco, and Muscat, by which our laws in criminal and civil matters are extended over American citizens in those countries, also the common law of equity and admiralty. Ministers and consuls have full judicial powers, and can punish according to the magnitude of the offense. The President is authorized to appoint seven marshals to execute processes, one in Japan, four in China, one in Siam, and one in Turkey.

Murder and insurrection or rebellion against one in Siam, and one in Turkey.

Murder and insurrection or rebellion against the government of either of said countries, with the intent to subvert the same, are made capital offenses, punishable with death. SPALDING'S PREPARED GLUE Spalding's Prepared Glue! Spalding's Prepared Glue! SAVE THE PIECES!

ECONOMY! DISPATCH! "A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE" As accidents will happen, even in well-regulated families, it is very desirable to have some cheap and conenient way for repairing Furniture, Toys, Crockery, etc. Spalding's Prepared Glue eets all such emergencies, and no household can afford to be without it. It is always ready, and up to the sticking point. There is no longer a necessity for limping chairs, splintered veneers, headless doils, and broken cradies. It is just the article for cone, shell, and other ornamental work, so popular with ladies of refinement and This admirable preparation is used cold, being chemi-cally held in solution, and possessing all the valuable qualities of the best cabinet-makers' Glue. It may be used in the place of ordinary mucilage, being vastly more adhestve.
